

UNIVERSITÄT
BAYREUTH

Human Rights Elites: The United Nations, independent experts, and the (un)making of inequalities

Date: 18th January 2023

Time: 16:15-17:45

Hybrid Talk: Room S57 (Building RWI) or online

To participate online, please scan the QR-Code and register for the talk.

The UN have established monitoring bodies of independent experts to overlook the implementation of human rights treaties around the globe. However, the UN human rights expert system has been challenged as doing little to effectively address global inequalities, and as being elitist, reflecting and reproducing social orders at the international level. How do UN human rights experts position themselves vis-à-vis this critique when working to unmake inequalities?

A talk with Dr. Nina Reiners hosted by the Global Political Sociology research seminar.

For further information please contact Büşra Üner (buesra.uener@uni-bayreuth.de).

Dr. Nina Reiners

Political Scientist - Free University Berlin and Graduate Institute Geneva